My bedroom is these colors:

My living room is these colors:

Things that are associated with me, I think of as purple:

J

The letter "J" is purple.

JULY

The beginning of July (the month) is purple, up until my birthday, but the rest is yellow like sunshine.

JANE

My name is all these colors when I spell it, but also purple as a unit:

Jane

and Saturdays are usually my personal project / reading time, but sometimes it can be red if it's stressful, or yellow/green if I'm outside all day.

Primary or null things are often pastel or grey:

Sunday 0
January 0
1

Endings are often dark and green, red, or brown:

TUVWXYZ
NOV DEC
7 9
Thursday
Saturday

Some secondary things are turquoise, others are red:

Tuesday
February
2

Monday
B

R is like B because of its shape and the word Red, while V is like B because of its sound.

But also B is red because of blood, and V is red like venus (passion) / vagina.

9 is red because it's 3x3.

Quaternary things are pink:

April
4

K and P are percussive, like D, but also P is the word Pink.

5th elements are green:

Thursday
5
E

but also "T" elements are green:

T, Thursday

I think F is green because it looks like E and 7 is green because it looks like T but also because 7 is lucky and luck is green.

March is green because of spring.

Note new music::color system changes: Since I created a new system for remembering musical notes, my associations are changing. Current association is on top, former or burgeoning association is on bottom.

I used to think of "D" as pink (like 4 and April), but now I think of it as orange (because C note is red and E note is yellow)

I think of "G" as orange and "A" as yellow, which makes remembering the note-colors difficult (blue & purple, respectively)

Wednesday

Wednesday is usually orange because it's the middle of the week, which can be a stressful time, but sometimes Wednesday is green when it's a productive / growth point in the week.

September

September is like manila envelopes and kind of stressful, but when I'm excited about school starting September is green like growth or more yellowish like excitement.

July (excluding the first week) is yellow like excitement,
but can be blue if its relaxing or red if it's stressful.

August usually starts out yellow, then turns red.
